To whom it may concern

Cultura Valore S.r.l. - Impresa Culturale e Creativa is pleased to express its full support for the PRIN 2026 research project H⁴ – VALUE – Heritage, Haptic, Human and High-Tech Values in Architectural Living-Use Ecosystems, coordinated by Prof. Mariangela De Vita and developed through the collaboration between the Gran Sasso Science Institute (GSSI), the National Research Council (CNR), the Academy of Fine Arts of L'Aquila, the University of L'Aquila, the Conservatory and the Department of Architecture of Chieti–Pescara.

The project addresses highly relevant contemporary challenges concerning Architectural Heritage conservation, adaptive reuse, environmental sustainability, digital innovation, Cultural and Creative Industries and community-based cultural regeneration. In particular, we recognize the scientific originality and strategic relevance of the proposed interdisciplinary framework, which interprets Architectural Heritage not as a static object of preservation, but as a living and adaptive ecosystem in continuous interaction with environmental, social, cultural and perceptive dimensions.

We especially appreciate the project's effort to overcome reductive or exclusively technological approaches to heritage management by integrating environmental monitoring, digital tools, data-driven decision-making systems and participatory methodologies within a broader human-centered and value-oriented perspective. Such an approach appears fully coherent with the principles promoted by the Council of Europe Framework Convention on the Value of Cultural Heritage for Society (Faro Convention), particularly with regard to the recognition of heritage communities, cultural participation, shared responsibility and the social production of cultural value.

From the perspective of Cultura Valore S.r.l., the project is particularly significant because it promotes an integrated vision of conservation, accessibility, cultural activation, sustainability and territorial development. This perspective is closely aligned with the reflections and public positions that our organization has developed over recent years in conferences, institutional initiatives and professional activities dedicated to the relationship between cultural heritage, civic participation, social inclusion, energy transition and the enhancement of cultural ecosystems.

We consider especially valuable the project's attention to the interaction between heritage conservation and contemporary forms of use, reuse and cultural innovation, as well as its capacity to connect architectural heritage with wider processes of social cohesion, environmental responsibility and sustainable local development. We also recognize the relevance of the proposed multiscalar methodology - spanning buildings, urban systems and territorial contexts - for post-seismic regeneration processes and for the strengthening of cultural resilience in fragile or transforming territories.

Within the limits of our institutional competences and operational possibilities, Cultura Valore S.r.l. expresses its willingness to support the dissemination and cultural valorization activities related to the project and to contribute, where appropriate, to dialogue initiatives concerning participatory heritage governance, cultural accessibility, adaptive reuse and the role of Cultural and Creative Industries in sustainable development processes.

We believe that H⁴-VALUE may significantly contribute to the advancement of interdisciplinary research and innovation in the field of Architectural Heritage and Cultural and Creative Industries,
